[REDACTED], good, I'll confer with our team here and we'll let you know when we are ready to change the IP range list to just a single IP address.

Thanks [REDACTED],

I am in agreement. We are releasing our CSP program this week and though the code is ready, our team would like some delay in order to make sure the site is stable and working. Please do what you think is necessary to prevent this from recurring and do let us know if additional information would be helpful.

As you might expect, we are very concerned and are very much desiring a resolution that includes the identification of thee individual and recovery of the content.

Best,

Hello [REDACTED], we've all been on furlough as a budget cutting measure so I'm just seeing this. I'll follow up.

I'd like to suggest, however, that we move forward with the addition of another layer of authorization rather than wait.

As you know, we've been delaying this pending the new JSTOR landing page, but it seems a good idea to make the change before too much more time goes by. So unless you think the landing page is ready for us to test this week, perhaps we could make the move to what we call 'econtrol' and then we could add the landing page later if/when it is ready.

Subject: MIT Abuse Recurrence

Good Evening,

We have identified activity this evening around 9:00 pm that resembles the abuse of the JSTOR archive previously reported on 9/25-9/26 and 10/9 of this year.

The activity is originating from 18.55.6.240, and we believe that it may be from the Dorrance Building on the MIT campus. We will be suspending the Class C range 18.55.6.* and monitoring closely for additional activity, suspending access as necessary.

We are requesting that every effort be made to identify the individuals responsible and to ensure that the content taken in this incident and those previously mentioned is secured and deleted. A detailed report of the activity and the content acquired will follow.
